

Cidnie's Room Transformation

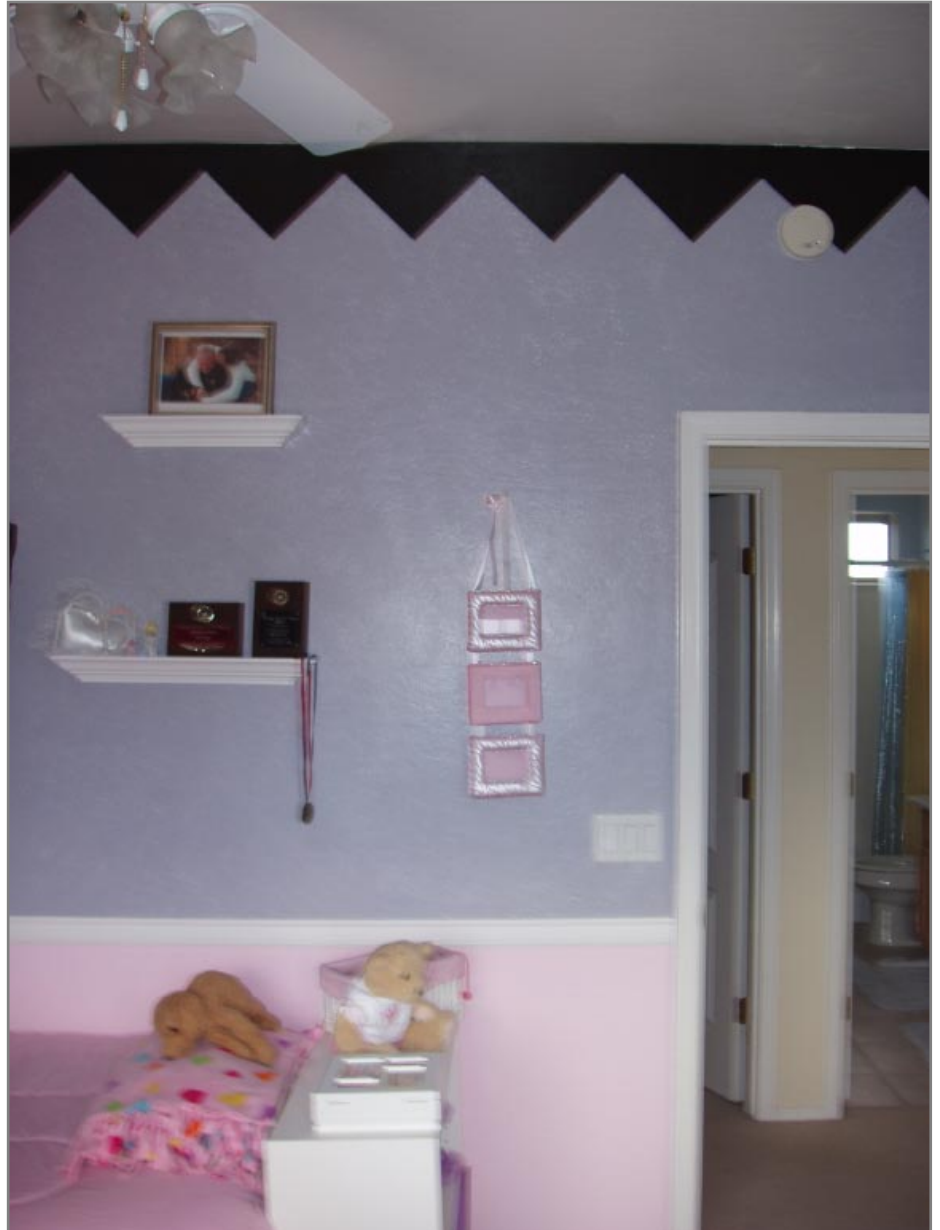

Before

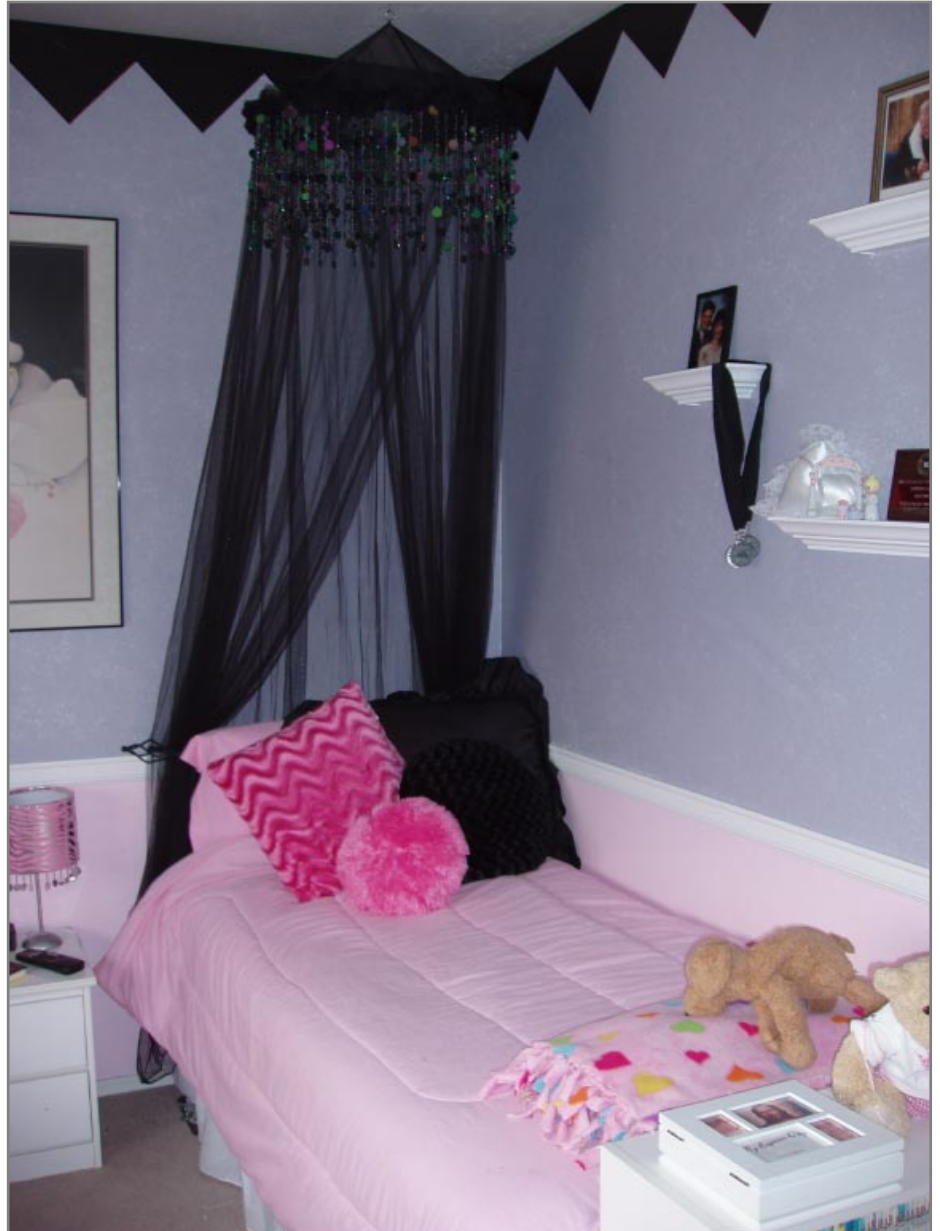

After

I started with a gray sponge job on the top part of the walls. Then added a pink bottom and white wood divider. I traced a triangle pattern and taped it to paint the black border along the ceiling.

The curtain drape softened things just enough and the picture frames and shelves gave her space to personalize her room.

Canopies were a big thing for her so I shopped online to find some black ones. They have beading on them which was a big bonus for her! I used tie backs that matched the curtain rod to keep them pulled back.

Success!

The idea for the room came from this print. Cid loves drama so this seemed fitting - it was in my room growing up. I pulled the primary color patterns of gray, white, pink and black accents from it.
